I've found that the battery proof of my laptop have stopped working since I updated to Lightroom 4.0.2. When I have tried to create a show using the Photohouse.com I have had problems with memory allocation and the whole system seems to freeze. I've tried to continue using Photoshop CS5 but as soon as I reach the menu Photoshop freezes. Anyone with the same problem? Thanks I have look at Lightroom a couple of times, but I'm disappointed that they removed the option to schedule your export. So the effect is the same - in effect you can create a preset for an hour, and then change the settings and create a preset for that. There once was a menu "Options" and I am pretty sure it allowed you to choose what preset you wanted to use. I like working on projects on my Mac Mini, then taking it on the road. But when I do need to get some work done at the office I would greatly prefer to be able to make a preset there, and then take it with me. No chance of that in LR 5.2. I tried downloading a CS6 copy and upgrade, but when I brought it to my office computer the company policy prevented that! Peter
